by Oprah Winfrey and starring a two-time Academy Award winner, Denzel Washington. The Great Debaters is a 2007 American biopic period film chronicling the success of the 1935 Wiley College Debate Team. Motifs such as perseverance, belief in self and ability, as well teamwork the corresponding counterbalance to racist circumstances permeates the moral core of the film as well. The above mentioned observations are indicative of the surface message of the film. Its biopic and historical context is an important part of African American academia/history that must be known and not forgotten. For me such elements make The Great Debaters worthwhile and memorable. Despite its best efforts however, I feel the film echoes a disturbing undercurrent and paradox in the African American experience which remains a
